MUSIC THERAPY SERVICES FOR NEURODIVERGENT OR DISABLED STUDENTS

At Music Works, we specialize in provide support services for children and teens who identify as neurodivergent or disabled. Treatment goals and sessions are individualized and centered around the strengths, interests and areas for growth for each client. Sessions may include:

- Movement to music - to promote motor coordination and self-expression
- Singing and vocalizing - to work on expressive communication and language
- Instrument play - to improve fine and gross motor skills and impulse control
- Songwriting - for self-expression, communication, problem solving and teamwork

For those students who wish to focus on musical skills, our team can also provide adapted music lessons on voice, piano, guitar, ukulele or percussion. Adapted lessons are intended to be flexible in order to fit a variety of learning styles. Private and group therapy available for kids and teens of all ages. No previous music experience needed.
